Introduction

The CheeseKids identity consists of the main corporate logo and a series of mood logos created to suit various themes. The unifying component within all the logos is circular CheeseKids mark.

The CheeseKids mark showcases the organisations dynamism and unconventional voice by having many different "states." Using the various states of the mark interchangeably, the identity is always in active motion.

The CheeseKids colours scheme is also to be used interchangeably within all the brand applications. Any one colour from the main scheme may be used to identify the various moods of the brand.

Each version of the logo should work with these colours in equal balance equal balance. The concept of motion, change and energy should be embraced and reflected in all of CheeseKids branding applications.

MAIN CHEESEKIDS LOGO 1 COL

Construction

The main CheeseKids logo three components:
The circular mark that encloses the logo and the tag line, the graphic within the logo and the icon on the outer core of a logo. These components are always placed in a fixed relationship and angle.
The main logo format should never be altered, modified or reproduced in any way.

In contrast, the mood versions may be used in a dynamic manner as the central icon, rendering and colour of the logo are changeable. To ensure the consistency necessary to build a recognisable identity, it is critical that the CheeseKids logo appear only in the colours approved in these guidelines.

The inner symbol represents symbol represents the values of the brand and the main logo uses the heart icon combined with the love sign represented by the hand on the outer core of the logo. When produced in colour the heart should always be red pantone xxx, while the main band is grey pantone xxx and pantone xxx for the hand, inner and outer circles.

MAIN CHEESEKIDS LOGO 2 COL

The logo should always appear in the same angle and may not be tilted in any form other than upright.

Clear Space/Bleed

To ensure its integrity and visibility, CheeseKids Corporate logo should be kept clear of competing text, images and graphics. It must be surrounded on all sides by an adequate clear space—a space equal in size to the x height of the logo circular strap that contains the text, as shown.

The logo clearance is marked and measured by x in order to give presidence and clarity to the mark it should always be placed from any competing elements with x as the minimum distance from other logos, text borders and margins.

Primary Logo

Primary logo to be used on all corporate identity elements. This logo should always use the heart icon in the centre and love hand element. It's placement and those of the subsequent secondary logo's should be based on the prescribed angle and ratios defined in the manual.

All subsequent logo's may be used on any material that exclude stationery and may be used as assisting graphics as long as they do not take precedence over the main logo.

The logo's presented here may not be altered in any way all presented Icons should be used in the same combinations on all applications.

Project Logo

The project logo is assisted by the fixed placement of an auxiliary device based on a varying visual idea. The image may change but the focal point should be placed within the specified area and maintain the prescribed angle. Where necessary the angle from the base of the logo to the auxiliary centre should be maintained. The central icon should always reflect the relevant value as per page 4

Circular logo

The circular logo caters for situations where the extended hand icon would interfere with placement on a centralised object. ie, badges, stickers signage and other such articles. This version of the logo may only be used with strict supervision of the brand manager.

Colour Combination

All logo configurations should match a colour scheme as per the prescribed example except where the logo is used as a stencil of graphic device and reversed on a solid colour. When used a single spot colour the central icon should always be 100% of the colour value whereas the inner, outer ring and hand should be at 60% of the main circular device's colour

The same will apply with the 2 colour version of the logo except that central icon will use a colour relating to the value, i.e: environment + green.

LOGO 2 COL

2 Colour Combination

Using 2 colour spot logo's where possible will allow for consistency in reproduction of the logo.

The logo should only be reproduced in process colours where they all appear on the same artwork and when digitally printed.

CMYK logo

Use of this version of the logo is for the sake of being able to achieve the colours of the flag and therefore it is the only logo that can be reproduced in full colour when used on its own.

Reverse logo

For the purpose of simple applications such as T-shirts printed on dark colours the logo may be reversed out in a solid colour on a contrasting solid background as shown here with the log reversed zin white on the pantone grey.

Reverse logo

This is an example of how each logo should be used with its specific spot colour in the reverse format. Note as well that the type is knocked out of the main ring so as to show the background colour beneath it.

A watermark stencil of the logo may be used as a background graphic as long as it is accompanied by a complete logo and does not compete with or overpower its visibility.

This application will best be suited for single colour covers and as banner graphics where only the branding is applied.

Playing with the logo

Where the logo is supplied as a stencil, artist will have the ability to add any shapes, graphics or textures as long as they conform to the main outline of the CheeseKids logo. In most cases this application will be reserved for clothing and graphic backgrounds such as banner walls, banners and poster.

This instance of the logo can only be used as the circular version to allow for easier central placement of the graphic.

As this version allows for experimentation and visual freedom, there are no colour restrictions as long as the identity is always legible and clear.

Typeface

The Cheesekids Identity makes use of two fonts: Aller Display and Museo. Aller Display is the sole font used on the logo and tagline while Museo is the font used on all communications.
